Received from NWS

Trained Skywarn Spotters,

We are excited to share that on Saturday, December 4th, the National Weather Service in Shreveport will host Skywarn Recognition Day virtually. Unfortunately, due to COVID-19 restrictions, we will not be able to welcome you inside of our office this year. However, this opens up a great opportunity to host both our Skywarn Spotters and our amateur radio operators virtually over GoogleMeet from 9:00-10:30 a.m. We invite all of our Skywarn Spotters to attend. That morning, we will have a presentation reviewing the high impact weather events for our area in 2021 and we will also recognize the 2021 Skywarn Spotter of the Year (2020 Spotter of the Year- Dusty LeBaron, Winnfield, LA). Please pass this along to any Skywarn Spotters and HAMs within your network.

If you plan to attend, you must first register at: Skywarn Recognition Day Registration by Wednesday, December 1st. The GoogleMeet information will be shared with registrants on December 2nd.

Regardless, whether or not you plan on attending, please make sure you check-in at the Skywarn Recognition Spotter Page. This is a new page created by the National Weather Service to help us track the location of our Skywarn Spotters across the country. You can check-in as early as today and through December 4th.

Amateur radio operators that want to set up and operate from the office parking lot from 6:00 p.m. Friday, December 3rd until 6:00 p.m. Saturday, December 4th may do so. However, please understand that due to COVID-19 restrictions, you will not be able to come into our office or access our restrooms. If you plan to set up in our parking lot, please make sure you include that in the notes of the registration form. Also, please note that if you are setting up outside during the GoogleMeet you'll need to watch it outside from a laptop or phone.

Friday Morning breakfast at Johnny B's. They now open at 6am!
